

Dr. Foley is a Clinical Instructor in the Department of Medicine at the University of British Columbia. She is a certified specialist in Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation through the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada. She has a staff appointment at Vancouver Coastal Health. She practises both inpatient and outpatient Rehabilitation Medicine at GF Strong Rehabilitation Centre. She is a consultant physician on the Acquired Brain Injury Program and Intensive Rehabilitation Day Program. She is a consultant physician on the Adolescent and Young Adult program. She has experience working with individuals that have acquired brain injuries, spinal cord injuries, chronic pain, polytraumas and various neuromuscular diagnoses.

Dr. Foley obtained a Bachelor of Science in Psychology and a Bachelor of Kinesiology (Hons) prior to her medical training; she also attended the Master of Physical Therapy program at the University of Western Ontario. She was a previous recipient of the Ontario Graduate Scholarship. She graduated from Memorial University Medical School and pursued her specialty training in Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at the University of British Columbia. Dr. Foley has published research in the use of botulinum toxin type A in the treatment of upper extremity pain. Dr. Foley's current research interest is the role of physical activity in brain injury recovery.